DR. RAY R. IRANI

President and Chief Operating Officer
Occidental Petroleum Corporation

Dr. Ray R. Irani has been president and chief operating officer of Occidental Petroleum Corporation since September 1, 1984, and a director of the company since July, 1984. Until his appointment as Occidental's president, he also served as an executive vice president of the firm. He joined the Occidental organization in June, 1983, as chairman and chief executive officer of subsidiary Occidental Chemical Corporation.

Prior to joining Occidental, Dr. Irani served as president and chief operating officer of Olin Corporation and as a member of that firm's board of directors. After starting his career as a research scientist, Dr. Irani played a key role in creating and developing commercially viable products and processes at Monsanto Company and Diamond Shamrock Corporation before joining Olin's Chemicals Group in March, 1973, as vice president for research and development. He was promoted to senior vice president of the Group in August, 1974, and in December was elected a corporate vice president of Olin. He was appointed executive vice president of the Chemicals Group in March, 1976; the Group's chief operating officer in May, 1977; president of the Group in October, 1978; president of Olin Corporation and a member of the board of directors in September, 1980; and chief operating officer in October, 1981.

Dr. Irani was born on January 15, 1935, in Beirut, Lebanon. He received a B.S. degree in chemistry from the American University there in 1953 and a Ph.D. in physical chemistry from the University of Southern California in 1957. By 1963 he was senior research group leader at Monsanto. He joined Diamond Shamrock in 1967 as associate director for new products and processes, and became that company's director of research two years later.

He holds 50 U.S. patents and more than 100 foreign patents, is the author of the book Particle Size, and has published over 50 technical papers. He is a director of the Chemical Manufacturers Association and is a member of the American Institute of Chemists, Inc.; the American Chemical Society; the Scientific Research Society of America, and the Industrial Research Institute. Dr. Irani was the recipient of the American Institute of Chemists' 1983 Honorary Fellow Award.
